

Checkpoint 9: Task 1 Team Argument Outline

What to Do

After completing individual literature review drafts, teams begin to formally consider their total body of evidence, using the syntheses and mediated perspectives of all lenses, to address and come to a conclusion about the initial or revised inquiry question. Students begin reflecting informally on each other's contributions and further narrow and select specific pieces of evidence to generate a thorough and coherent argument within the scope of an 8-10 minute presentation. For this progress check, teams decide on one of the three argument templates initially provided in Module 6 and collaborate to complete it for team submission.
